PENSION POINTERS.

Answers and Suggestions Made.

L. H. C., Chanute, Kan.—If the payment of part-pension to the pensioner's wife or on appeal to have been determined through an erroneous construction of law, he amount erroneously paid to the wife will doubtless be repaid to the pensioner.
J. L., Glen Ellyn, Ill.—It is impossible to say that the likelihood is of general pension legislation of any character at the present session of Congress. Several bills have been introduced proposing an increase of the rate of invalid pension under the general law for the loss of limbs.
X. Y. Z.—The law relative to pension dependent parents distinctly provides that if the father or mother claim benefit made under the general law alone or under the law as amended by section 1 of the act of June 27, 1890, shall be dependent upon their children who are living—surviving neither a widow nor a child under 16.
E. N., Denver, Colo.—A volunteer of war of the rebellion who enlisted in 1861 and received $100 bounty for that term and $400 bounty for re-enlistment as a veteran, has received all the U. S. bounty due him under any law. The matter of ransom and transportation in connection with veteran furlough was undoubtedly settled at the time of the furlough.
C. F. G., Wausau, Ohio—Ira the pension claims of dependent parents it is still necessary to prove that the soldier's death was due to the service and line of duty. Section 1 of the act of June 27, 1890, makes no change in the law in this respect.
J. E., Stoughton, Mass.—Dependent mothers and sisters are entitled to pension only if they are under 16 when the soldier died and are under 16 when application is filed; namely, before the date in any arrears of pay, etc., due on account of the soldier's service, regardless their age, they being the next of kin surviving.

The Army and Navy Union.

Sinclair Curtis Garrison No. 58, of the Army and Navy Union, was instituted and officers installed in Red Men's Hall, Washington, D.C., last night. It would be performed by Special Inspector Hugh H. Henry, of Phoenix, Va., assisted by Commandant J. A. Jones, Senior Vice-Commander Julius Wuertz, Junior Vice-Commander A. J. Berney and Inspector David Hull, of colored Royal T. Frank Garrison, 50, of Phoenix. Garrison No. 58 may hold as an emblematic Garrison of the Union, having its ranks ex-regiments, a majority ex-veterans and several ex-navy men. The officers are as follows: Commander, H. H. Holt, Sr.; Adjutants, R. B. V. Pease, Jr., Deaner, Adjt., A. F. Ris; Q. M., Philip Lindenger. Information is given regarding the Union may obtained from Adjutant General John Schumacher, 401 Commercial Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., or from Special Inspector Hugh H. Henry, Box 132, Newbury Park.

FRED O'NEALS

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon I—a gormand, an inordinate lover of good things to eat—the table, and his love of food that is not thoroughly digested onions; his death from cancer of the stomach, it is claimed, also, was probably caused from his excessive indulgence in this fondness for the odoriferous vegetable.

The onion is undoubtedly a wholesome article of food; in fact, has many medicinal qualities which could be employed to find a more indigestible article than fried onions, and to many people they are simply poison; but the onion does not stand alone in this respect. Any quantity of food that is not thoroughly digested becomes a source of disease and discomfort, whether it be fried onions or beef steak.

The reason why any unwholesome food is not promptly digested is because the stomach lacks some important element of digestion; some stomachic lack pepsine, others are deficient in gastric juice, still others lack hydrochloric acid.

The one thing necessary to do in any case of poor digestion is to supply those elements of digestion which the stomach lacks, and nothing does this so thoroughly and safely as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dr. Richardson, in writing a thesis on treatment of dyspepsia and indigestion, expresses his remarks by saying, "For those suffering from acid dyspepsia, shown by flatulence, watery risings, or for fatulent dyspepsia shown by gas, distention of the stomach causing heart trouble and difficult breathing, as well as for all other forms of stomach trouble, the safest treatment is one of the most powerful antacid dyspeptic tablets each meal." I advise them because they contain no harmful drugs, which act composed of valuable digestives, which act promptly upon the food eaten. Every chronic dyspepsia which Stuart's Tablets would not reach."

Cheap cathartic medicines claiming to cure every kind of indigestion can have no effect whatever in actively digesting the food, and to call any cathartic medicine a cure for indigestion is a misnomer. Dr. Cassell, President of the United States Medical Association, writes that Canada sells Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they are not only the safest and most successful, but the most scientific remedy now known for indigestion and stomach troubles.

but only for a moment. Something was about to be done; but if I could have controlled events, I would not have known what to choose. One thing, however, began to loom clear through the dim future: I was working to get to the end of a road that General was to create, and that he had been at Gettysburg. When Lee at Manassas Junction, between Meade and Washington, the Army of the Potomac would yield from starvation, or fight at utter disadvantage; and there was war to loom near by, as McClellan's Alexandria in 1862.

The night brought no movement, and the day brought no movement.
